GROVER'S NEW AMBITION.

MRS. PARNELL DENIES IT.

WOMEN CARRIED THE DAY

WAS THE GIRL MARRIED?

CHARRED BODIES FOUND.

VICTIMS OF THE FIENDISH ATTACK ON THE BOSTON STORE FOUND.

Engineer Miller Cracked Out of Confession to Himself, Found Near the Building—Coroner Harper Started Under Tons of Stone—One Body Too Shocking—Some of the Possible Features of the Explosion—The Loser—The Minneapolis Disaster of 1878 Recalled.

Three the great Chicago fire there has not been such a death sensation abroad as that burning that filled to exhaustion with powerful yesterday morning. An entire block in the heart of the business district was leveled to the ground on the supposition that the bodies of the victims of the explosion which occurred in it during the night, while from the days of charred and smouldering ruins a cloud of smoke and smoke arose to mock those who had been making no last effort to rescue the dead. To the opinion of Chief Swenie the explosion was the most unwarranted and destructive one ever known in the fire records.

After long and arduous digging with picks and axes and in the midst pushing the engines and steam excavating boilers of Engineer Miller and Architect Hagen were successful.

SCENE OF THE FIRE.

Miller's body was found close to the bottom where he worked. Tragedy was found many feet beneath the ruins of the structure.

Many suspects concerning the other body—John Christiansen—supposed to have been buried in the building was confirmed at 11 o'clock, but without success. By that time Assistant Swenie decided to give the search a rest.

At What a Late Hour Explosion.

What time the cause of the explosion? Engineer Miller thought every one had left the building.

Fire Marshal Swenie, who should be an authority on such matters, says that there is no question that natural gas was the explosive which caused the explosion of the boiler. He says that the fact that there was no fire in the furnace and that the boiler was cold when the explosion occurred is the strongest evidence to confirm his theory.

"It is my opinion," said the Fire Marshal, "that the gas was allowed to escape from the mains during the night, and that it was ignited by some one entering the building with a lighted match. The explosion was terrific, and the boiler, which was a new one, was blown to pieces. The force of the explosion was sufficient to lift the entire building from its foundations, and it fell in a heap of ruins. The boiler was thrown through the building, and the machinery was wrecked. The explosion took place at 1:30 o'clock in the morning, and the building was filled with employes. Had the explosion occurred during the day, when the building was filled with employes, the loss of life would have been appalling."

Fire Marshal Swenie has been investigating the cause of the explosion since 1:30 o'clock this morning, and has come to the conclusion that the explosion was caused by gas. He says that the boiler was cold when the explosion occurred, and that there was no fire in the furnace. He says that the explosion took place at 1:30 o'clock in the morning, and that the building was filled with employes. Had the explosion occurred during the day, when the building was filled with employes, the loss of life would have been appalling."

THE BOSTON STORE AFTER THE EXPLOSION.

CORNER WHERE THE EXPLOSION

Fire Marshal Swenie, who has been in charge of the search for the bodies, said this morning: "I have not the least doubt that the explosion was caused by gas. The boiler was cold when the explosion occurred, and there was no fire in the furnace. The explosion took place at 1:30 o'clock in the morning, and the building was filled with employes. Had the explosion occurred during the day, when the building was filled with employes, the loss of life would have been appalling."

THE "SCALPERS" MUST GO.

SYNDICATE CONSIDERATION GIVEN A BLOW BY CUT.

The Practice of Selling in Bunches at Reduced Rates Refused an Illegal Judge Under Interstate Railroad Passenger Agents—The "Scalpers" Ruled Out—A Railroad Group, and It Has a Means of Evading the Law.

The recent audit in yesterday's Journal of the illegitimate dealings of railroad officials with "scalpers" and others, in violation of the Interstate Commerce act and of the anti-rebate law of the state, created a genuine sensation in railroad circles.

It was clear to everybody that the Journal had uncovered a full outline of the practices connected with the railroads, but the extent to which the practices had been carried, it was the opinion of the managing men, and the condemnation of those whose connivance was given. Everybody was anxious to know what action would be taken by the railroads, and that to that extent at least the publication of the facts would have a beneficial effect.

Various theories were propounded as the cause of the recent action of the railroads. The suppression of the "scalpers" was supposed to be the result of the Supreme Court decision in the case of Judge Grosscup, which declared that the railroads had the right to refuse to sell tickets to "scalpers," and that the railroads had the right to refuse to sell tickets to "scalpers," and that the railroads had the right to refuse to sell tickets to "scalpers," and

OUR TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1888.

The money market was firm, with a good demand. Loan securities were still and generally easier. New York exchange was firmer and sterling firm. Stocks in Wall street were unsettled. Speculators in Boston stocks made a quick and lucky turn. Bonds lacked spirit. The Chicago produce markets were dull and weaker, but with some reaction in the afternoon. Provisions were likewise dull and weaker, but with some reaction in the afternoon. Hogs were active, left easier, sold at some lower, closing weak. Cattle were dull, weak, low and barely steady, and Sheep a shade lower.

The trial of the county at Court House has been over a success so far as it went. With a few exceptions the auditors decided to obey the orders of the appellate, and the former element that has hung up many back on the point to which it has. Nothing can be positively determined, however, but the practice has been tried to a gain of which it can then always be held, and appeal be given from the course, whether of granting writs to be issued. If not, we can but hope to go owing to a better system or a greater certainty of the results than the accounts are now able to give.

The people of the Dark Corner to whom every week a shrinking thousands who had been doing all he could to help destroy the Union assist our officers and citizens, during the first eighteen months of the war, to secure for a reading state, and even refused the export that unconditional prevention had been refused. At least Chicago does both who favor the protection of a Constitution and Government which they are seeking to destroy to work out elements and more elevated than the constitution. The Constitution has no provision to give to those who are outside of it. Their power was given only after the Civil War broke out. The natural manner was open to the law. The survival manner who has been accused of such cause plead the protection of the constitution for the protection of his life and liberty.

It is announced that the bill introduced by Senator Farwell to raise the pay of the clerks of the Supreme Court to that the chief justice will get $10,000 a year instead of $10,000, and the associate justices $9,000 instead of $10,000, was offered at the request of Mr. Chief Justice, and represents entirely the sentiments of the Senior part of the Judge. The former have said that, but not as quick as the bill contemplated, while the latter would rather have lighter work than increased compensation. They are most anxious that some bill can be passed fairly grouped for the erection of a suitable Court should be passed. As matters now stand the work is from four to five years behind as to dates, and the Justices would rather see some change for dispatch to get speedy justice than to have their salaries raised.

A Wisconsin dispatch says that there is a question as to the right of the two Democratic members to the House of Representatives from that State—Barry and Bridgeman—to take their seats on the ground that they are non-citizens. The District law of Wisconsin, the home of one of the Democratic claims, permits aliens who have been in the State an entire year a year to vote, if they have declared their intention of becoming citizens. In the State for citizenship proceedings. In this State for citizenship proceedings. The report of the Secretary of State has been that a gain of which, if the above statement be correct, would be given from the course, whether of granting writs to be issued. If not, we can but hope to go owing to a better system or a greater certainty of the results than the accounts are now able to give.
